Kingston in Forefront With Space-Age Studies

1,203 Enroll in 42 Science Courses Last September,
1,072 in Math; Soper Says Curriculum Well Balanced

Emphasis on the science and mathematics curriculum at Kingston High School preceded the advent of the Sputniks and present plans call for even more concerted attention to those subjects in this space-conscious age, it was learned today.

A check with Dr. Earl F. Soper, superintendent of city schools, today disclosed that a total of 1,203 students enrolled in 42 science courses at the beginning of the semester in September, while 1,072 pupils were enrolled in 40 mathematics classes. Total high school enrollment for 1957-58 is 2,125. The Board of Regents yesterday urged schools to stress science courses without diminishing attention to other areas of study in the curriculum.

Plan for College Credits

Plans of local school authorities include increased laboratory facilities for science students, and a program which would lead to advanced college credit for outstanding science students.

Dr. Soper explained that a balanced curriculum is necessary, "and at the same time we have encouraged students in the areas of science and mathematics. There has been good response to that suggestion and I believe we have not shirked our responsibility in age when science is so vital."

Increased facilities for laboratory work is expected by construction of a proposed auditorium addition to the high school, which would vacate the band and orchestra room in the Vocational Building.

"Our facilities for science instruction are not entirely adequate," Dr. Soper said, "but with the band and orchestra room available we would have room for two large laboratories."

Meeting Set Tuesday

In the exploratory stage, he said, is a plan which would establish "for the very capable child" a program leading to advanced college credit in a science subject.

A meeting pertinent to that plan is scheduled at the high school Tuesday with representatives of the College Entrance Examination Board. The "feasibility" of such a program will be discussed, Dr. Soper said.

List of Classes

Following is a list of classes and students in science and mathematics:

Chemistry—Six classes, 158 students; Physics—four classes, 114 students; Earth Science—two classes, 65 students; Biology—11 classes, 333 students; General Science—19 classes, 533 students.

Advanced Algebra—Three classes, 84 students; Trigonometry—Two classes, 30 students; Intermediate (half unit)—three classes, 89 students; Plane Geometry—14 classes, 363 students; and Elementary Algebra—14 classes, 391 students.

Geared for Future

Every student, entering high school as a freshman, is offered a four-year course in science, Dr. Soper noted.

The curriculum indicates that the science program at the high school has kept pace with the past and is gearing itself for the future.

Croswell Cleared In Mobster Raid

Sgt. Edgar D. Croswell, who began his police career as a member of the Kingston Police Department, was cleared Friday of his part in a raid on a mobster parley last week at Apalachin.

Acting State Investigations Commissioner Arthur Reuter, who has been in Kingston recently conducting a probe of the local police force, said Sgt. Croswell showed "no dereliction of duty" in breaking up the gangland conclave.

Praised by Governor

Reuter made the statement yesterday after Croswell had been questioned for the second straight day and it came on the heels of some personal praise by Gov. Averell Harriman for the former local man's part in the raid.

Harriman yesterday said Croswell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Croswell of 329 Wall Street, deserved credit even though there had been some criticism of the release of the mobsters.

The governor lauded Croswell's initiative, alertness and courage in rounding up the hoodlums.

Heads Broome BCI

Croswell heads the Bureau of Criminal Investigation for Broome County. Besides being a former member of the Kingston Police Department, Croswell, a native of Woodstock, at one time was a member of the local fire department.

Croswell, 44, a 16-year veteran with the State Police, led the raid Nov. 14 on the secluded mansion of Joseph Barbara, host to 60 men whom Croswell said were meeting "probably to carve up parts of (Albert) Anastasia's empire."

Anastasia, high executioner of the old Mayor, Inc., was shot to death Oct. 25 as he sat in a Manhattan hotel barber chair.

No Charges: Croswell

Gov. Harriman had ordered Reuter to look into the raid. There had been complaints that Croswell was lax in letting the mobsters go free after being rounded up, Croswell said there were no charges on which he could hold them.

At Binghamton last night, the Broome County district attorney said he would move to revoke a pistol permit issued 19 years ago to Barbara. Dist. Atty. Louis M. Greenblatt said he would ask County Judge Robert O. Brink to revoke the permit on the ground that Barbara, a beer distributor, consorted with persons labeled "known criminals" in the files of the FBI.

Barbara's beer distributing and soft-drink bottling business is located in Endicott, Broome County. Barbara himself has yet to be questioned. His physician has said he suffers from heart trouble and is too ill to be quizzed.

In New York, police continued rounding up persons, including several that attended the meeting, for questioning in the Anastasia case.

Questioning of prospective jurors will resume Monday.

Hoffa, president-elect of the Teamsters Union, is on trial with Bernard Brennan, president of Teamsters Local 337, and Bernard Spindel, of Holmes, N. Y., a professional wiretapper.

Hoffa is charged with conspiring with the others between 1953 and 1957 to tap telephones of subordinates in the Teamsters' headquarters in Detroit, where Hoffa resides.

State Educators Unaware Of Findings on Changes

ALBANY (AP)—Top state education officials were caught unaware by a survey that recommended sweeping changes in the State University system.

An Education Department spokesman said yesterday the survey, authorized by the university's research foundation, was made and publicized without the knowledge of Chancellor John F. Brosnan of the Board of Regents or Education Commissioner James E. Allen Jr.

The survey, made public Thursday night in New York City, proposed establishment of a one-campus parent unit with university status as the hub of the system, which now comprises 42 units throughout the state.

Allen declined comment on reports that he was angry that he had not been informed of the survey and plans for its publication. The survey of the State University, which comprises all higher education in the state, was made by a group of 12 university faculty members, including Allen.

Bank Trial Summation On Monday

Sisters Thought
Rose Would Pay

NEW YORK (AP)—Both sides have rested in the trial of two sisters charged with conspiring with ex-banker William R. Rose to misapply funds of an Ellenville, N. Y., bank.

The defendants are Mrs. Celia Hoffman, 48, and Mrs. Anna Schandler, 50. They operate the Zeiger Hotel in Fallsburg, N. Y. Rose, also named in the indictment, has pleaded guilty.

Summations Monday

Federal District Judge Edward Weinfeld indicated yesterday that summations in the case would begin Monday. He said he will charge the jury late Monday or Tuesday.

Yesterday, Albert Kullback, a Monticello certified public accountant, testified he had overstated the hotel's income by $30,000 for the years 1954 and 1955 in an application to the New York State Business Development Loan Corp. He said he had done so at the request of Mrs. Schandler.

Denies Conspiracy

In earlier testimony yesterday, Mrs. Schandler tearfully denied the conspiracy charge. Mrs. Hoffman testified Thursday that she believed Rose was taking personal care of overdrafts because he was a wealthy man.

The Ellenville bank involved, the Home National Bank, is defunct.

Mrs. Schandler told Judge Edward Weinfeld and a jury that "on several occasions I signed notes in blank" for Rose in the belief they were for additional credit.

No Fill-In Authorized

She testified that she never had authorized Rose or anyone else to fill in on the notes the name of the Hotel Tiffany in Miami Beach, Fla. She said she learned only after the bank closed that this had been done.

She and her husband, her brother and his wife, had acquired the Tiffany in 1944.

Mrs. Schandler said she first met Rose in 1953 through Bob Stapleton, an attorney and bank director.

She told of obtaining a series of loans in 1954 and 1955 in connection with the rebuilding of the Zeiger Hotel.

Quotes Rose on Promise

She said that when the refurbished hotel opened in June 1955 Rose told her mother:

"Mother, you have nothing to worry about. . . You will pay everybody as you have always paid everybody—I will see you through until the time you will no longer need assistance."

In September 1955 Mrs. Schandler testified, Rose told her the hotel had overdrawn about $122,000. She said she asked him "What do we do now?" and that "he asked me if I thought I could raise that amount of money." She said she told him she would try.

Advised No Worry

Mrs. Schandler said she later told Rose she would have difficulty in meeting the loans, and that he told her "not to worry, that he would personally take care of us at that time."

Mrs. Hoffman testified earlier that she believed Rose was taking personal care of overdrafts because he was a wealthy man.

Paper Ups Price

SYRACUSE (AP)—The Syracuse Post-Standard and the Syracuse Herald-Journal announced today that their newsstand prices would be increased Monday from five to seven cents.

Home delivery charges for both newspapers will go from 30 to 40 cents.

Both papers are members of the S. I. Newhouse organization. Seven Gannett Group newspapers in New York announced identical increases this month.

Search Goes On for Girl

Search for a 13-year-old High Falls girl who disappeared from her home Tuesday was continuing today.

Representatives of the Ulster County sheriff's office were in High Falls Friday investigating the disappearance of Mary Lou LeFever.

Sheriff Claude Bell, Under-sheriff Clayton W. Vredenburg, County Investigator Arthur Brown and Identification Officer Earl Conro were in High Falls Friday questioning residents of the area.

The girl is described as five feet five inches tall, weighing 120 pounds, with light brown hair worn in long curls. Her eyes are blue. She was wearing an off-white sweatshirt, blue dungarees and white saddle shoes.

Damage Is Heavy In Marlboro Blaze

Fire of undetermined origin heavily damaged a grocery store, garage and barn in the village of Marlboro early this morning.

The grocery was located in a building owned by Edward McGowan.

Firemen were able to bring the fire under control and keep it from spreading to the McGowan Hotel next door and to a dwelling nearby, it was reported.

Flames leaped from the grocery building across an alley to the combination barn and garage which was also heavily damaged.

Fire seemed to break out in the upper part of the two-story frame building. The grocery, located on the first floor, suffered heavily from water damage.

Firemen from three companies responded to the alarm which came at 2:40 a. m.

No estimate of loss was immediately available.

The grocery store, known as Drago Bros., was operated by Charles and Roy Drago. It was described as "practically destroyed." Heaviest damage to the store was reported to be water.

Some 50 or 60 volunteers reported to the scene with five or six pieces of equipment from Marlboro, Middlehope and Milton companies.

No homes threatened, but fire trucks and crews were strung out along the footpaths to protect communities in case of a sudden wind change should whip the flames in their direction.

No one was reported injured, and only an unoccupied cabin and two sheds were burned.

Sheriff's deputies raised three roadblocks in the fire area to keep

Coast Blaze Out Of Control Again

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A wind-whipped brush and timber fire that already has crackled and burned through 25,000 acres in the San Gabriel Mountains, blazed out of control for the third day today.

$25 Million Damage

The U. S. Forest Service estimated damage so far at 25 million dollars.

Fanned by winds of hurricane force, the blaze broke out Thursday near Deer Flat Camp, 14 miles above the suburban communities of Monrovia and Azusa.

In three hours, the fire raged eight miles down the thickly wooded and brush covered slopes, and in six hours it had advanced 12 miles on a four-mile front.

Winds slackened, however, and a Forest Service spokesman said that control is expected tonight or tomorrow.

The fire was burning some 25 to 30 miles northeast of downtown Los Angeles and 15 to 20 miles from the northernmost sections of the city, which were in no danger at all. Communities closer to the blaze were in no immediate danger.

1,400 Battle Flames

The famous Mt. Wilson Observatory was reported seriously imperiled during the early stages of the fire, but flames were beaten back yesterday several miles east of the peak on which the observatory and a number of television transmitters are located.

Meanwhile, some 1,400 men, including Indian "hot shots," battled the blaze along a 50-mile perimeter. The specially trained Indian firefighters were brought in from Winslow, Ariz., and Gallup, N. M.

No Homes Threatened

No homes were threatened, but fire trucks and crews were strung out along the footpaths to protect communities in case of a sudden wind change should whip the flames in their direction.

No one was reported injured, and only an unoccupied cabin and two sheds were burned.

Sheriff's deputies raised three roadblocks in the fire area to keep has been operated for approximately 30 years.

In 1931 the present highway was built and at one place a culvert some 3 by 4 feet in size was placed under the road and discharged surface water onto the north parcel of claimant's premises.

In the spring of 1952 the state deepened the concrete drainage ditch on the south side of the highway by about six inches, removed some concrete slabs and placed rock fill in to deepen a portion of the ditch to prevent too rapid runoff of water. Changes were also made on the north side of the highway where the hotel is located.

Claimant alleged the charges made in 1952 were responsible for the damage to the premises, alleging that for over 20 years prior to 1952 the water discharged on claimant's property gradually dispersed itself and caused no damage. It is alleged the alterations made in the spring of 1952 were responsible for the damage that fell. It is alleged the changes made on the north side of the highway are primarily the cause of the damage.

May Land On Other Planets

Pressure Now On To Speed Program

By The Associated Press

Man's first breakthrough into outer space was claimed today for the United States.

Physicist Maurice Dubin, a civilian employe of the Air Force, said two fragments of aluminum had been blasted beyond the pull of the earth's gravity. They may now be hitting other planets, or be drawn towards a flaming death in the sun, he said.

It was acknowledged, however, that the feat was in no way comparable with the Russian launching of earth satellites.

Reports Given

Other developments in the missile-satellites field:

1. British scientists reported that the carrier rocket that put Sputnik I into its orbit Oct. 4 may have ended its life in space.

2. In Washington, the administration was under new pressure to speed its missile program as a powerful Senate group labeled current target dates too modest.

To Ask About NATO

3. West German Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano was due in Washington today and was expected to ask Secretary of State Dulles for a statement of U. S. intentions on missile bases in Europe for NATO forces.

4. The New York Herald Tribune said today a top-secret administration committee had completed a report that reportedly warned that the United States faced neutralization of the Strategic Air Command by Russian missiles unless U. S. defense efforts were speeded.

Hurled 54 Miles

Dubin said the metallic chunks—meteors in reverse—were hurled from an Aerobee rocket to a 54-mile altitude.

Asked whether a rocket could be shot to the moon under similar conditions, he replied, "undoubtedly," adding that it would take about 10 hours for a rocket to travel the 250,000 miles to the moon because the speed of the rocket would be reduced outside the earth's gravitational pull.

11 Miles a Second

The explosives, known as "shaped charges," funneled the blast so that aluminum fragments shot out at a velocity of 40,000 miles per hour or about 11 miles a second. This is well above the 25,000 m.p.h.—7 miles per second—velocity needed to escape the earth's gravity.

Dubin is on the staff of the Air Force Cambridge Research Center at Bedford in suburban Boston. He said announcement of the breakthrough had been delayed until evidence of special tracking cameras had been analyzed.

These, he said, confirmed that at least two fragments of unknown size but probably less than an ounce each had hurtled upwards into space after the mid-air explosion.

It was pure chance, Dubin said, that one charge was pointing upwards permitting fragments of its casing to shoot out beyond the grip of gravity.

New Trial Is Directed in Kerhonkson Hotel $22,000 Action Against State

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court has reversed the lower court and directed a new trial be had in an action brought by Kerhonkson Lodge, Inc., Harry Nachman, president, against the State of New York for damages alleged to have been occasioned by certain highway drainage improvements made by the state in connection with the maintenance of the Minnewaska Trail adjacent to the hotel premises.

An action was brought by Kerhonkson Lodge, Inc., against the state seeking damages in the amount of $22,000 for damage to the premises following a heavy rain storm in November 1952.

Claimant alleged that work done by the state on a drainage ditch in the spring of that year was responsible for erosion of plaintiff's land to such an extent that its private road was washed out and the piers and underpinnings of a new cottage building were undermined and damaged.

Claimant owns and operates a hotel property on the Minnewaska Trail about three miles from Kerhonkson. The resort has been operated for approximately 30 years.

In 1931 the present highway was built and at one place a culvert some 3 by 4 feet in size was placed under the road and discharged surface water onto the north parcel of claimant's premises.

No denial of the damage was made by the state but it was

The 400 parishes in the New York Archdiocese will observe the opening of the Catholic Bishops' Thanksgiving Clothing Campaign tomorrow with an envelope collection at all Masses. The drive for used clothing for the needy overseas will continue for the remainder of the week with parish halls and parochial schools staffed to receive contributions.

His Eminence, Francis Cardinal Spellman is honorary chairman of the appeal for the archdiocese and the Very Rev. Msgr. John F. McCarthy is archdiocese director. In addition 37 priests appointed by the Cardinal as regional directors, will supervise the campaign in their respective counties.

Needed for immediate distributions overseas, Msgr. McCarthy says, are all types of clothing for men, women, children and infants. Also, usable blankets, bedding, practical low heeled shoes and anything else that will provide protection against cold and consequent disease.

Each parish will be responsible for its own collection and will make arrangements for shipping the bundles to the warehouse of Catholic Relief Services at Eastchester Road and Haselt Avenue, Brook. The company or individual has been authorized to collect the clothing from any parish, Msgr. McCarthy warns.

This is the ninth annual Bishops' Thanksgiving Clothing appeal on behalf of destitute refugees, expeles and indigenous poor of other lands. In last year's drive 165,000 pounds of clothing valued at more than $23,000,000 was contributed nationally and benefited persons of all faiths.

GOD'S THANKSGIVING DAY

Back in 1905, Mark Twain wrote an article on "Thanksgiving Day" which appeared in the November 27th issue of "The Washington Times." In that article he said that "every year every person in America concentrates all his thoughts upon one thing, the cataloging of his reasons for being thankful to the Deity for the blessings conferred upon him and upon the human race during the expiring twelve months. This," the famous humorist went on to say, "is well and as it should be; but it is too one-sided. No one seems to think of the Deity's side of it; apparently no one concerns himself to inquire how much or how little He has to be thankful for during the same period; apparently no one has had good feeling enough to

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

With science shooting at the moon now it is interesting to look back to some of the developments during the 19th century as written up in "The Story of the Empire State" by Gertrude Van Duyn Southworth. It was printed in 1902.

She tells about the completion of the Erie Canal and the beginning of the end of the stage-coach travel. She says that from the main canal, branches were built to extend both north and south. Soon travel by these waterways became the approved method of getting about. "Passenger-boats or packets ran back and forth across the state. Each packet contained a dining-room and sleeping berths, which were quite essential, as the boat's rate of speed was so uncertain that one could never tell just how far on his journey night would find him. The packets were drawn by three or four horses, or mules, as are the canal-boats of today. It claimed they traveled five miles an hour but a saying, "A cent and a half a mile, comes down from that time." I do not see anything about our D & H canal anywhere in the book that I could find. Yet in 1855 and 1856 over a million tons of coal were hauled through it, and folks lived on those canal boats.

She tells about the first railroad in the state giving as its date 1831. "It was the first passenger railroad in the country. The road was constructed of wooden rails, and covered a distance of 17 miles between Albany and Schenectady. Their greatest speed was 15 miles an hour. They had a difficult time going up a hill so instead they would go around it. She wrote that a steep grade at Albany was managed by taking off the locomotive and pulling the cars to the top of the hill by means of a rope and a stationary engine. Then with the coming of steam as a motive power led to building of factories to make everything pertaining to this new power and also many items were being now built through this power. Towns grew up about the factories and laid the foundation for manufacturing cities through the new inventions and skills which later laid the foundation of what we have now.

She also tells about the Debtors' Prison before 1831 when New York passed a bill putting an end to imprisonment for debt. She writes with great sympathy about a man's lot in those days who even owned a small amount, and no matter what his excuse that he could not pay for it in time, be it illness, loss of work, or plain idleness, he was seized and thrown in this Debtors' Prison. The state at the time fed its criminals and thieves but not one cent went for food for the debtors' prison. One room held all it could contain, which was often many. There were no chairs no beds and unless friends brought food the man could well starve to death until this was all changed. Today, of course, credit is a great part of all business and buyers by not only businessmen and concerns but by the consumers themselves.

Letters of congratulations have been received by Carpenter from high-ranking officials of the loan group.

Solvent Spilled Into Furnace Is Blamed for Fire

BIG FLATS (P)—An inflammable solvent that spilled into a furnace has been blamed for a fire that caused $100,000 damage at a plant of the Grange League Federation.

The fire destroyed two-thirds of the insecticide manufacturing plant in this community near Elmira yesterday. No one was hurt.

A GLF official, who estimated the damage, said a break-down in a pump probably caused the accident.

He said the solvent, zylene, was being pumped into the plant from a tank car, when the pump broke down and the solvent spilled into the basement and into the bottom of the furnace.

NEW FARM RESEARCH

The number of farmers in the United States is steadily declining. Farm production, however, keeps rising. Fewer farmers are able to produce more food and fiber than the public consumes, with the result that the government acquires heavy surpluses of various commodities.

The problem of too much food and fiber—too much, that is, for so-called effective demand—can be solved either by cutting farm production or increasing consumption, or a combination of both. Efforts to cut production have not been very successful, largely because farmers whose crop acreage has been reduced tend to grow more per acre on the remaining land.

This focuses attention on means of boosting the amount of food and fiber consumed. Disposal of more surplus goods abroad will help, as long as care is taken not to disrupt world markets. Encouraging consumers to use more farm products also will help to some extent.

But there is good reason to believe that the real trump card in the deck is a lot more research to discover new uses for agricultural products. The chances are that such research will pay off handsomely for both farmers and consumers, not to mention all those in between.

Agricultural research has leaned heavily toward finding ways of producing more and better crops. This has been responsible for a tremendous improvement in both quantity and quality. Now the emphasis should shift to finding new ways of using what the farmer grows. This is one of the keys to eventual solution of the nation's basic farm problem.

A NEED FOR PROTEST

The Sukarno government in Indonesia has kept a writer and editor, Mochtar Lubis, under house arrest for a year or so, without having brought any charges against him. Lubis has been barred from communicating with his friends or leaving his home because he exposed corruption in the Indonesian government.

Each week, Lubis' paper carried a box reporting the number of days he had been detained under house arrest. Recently, and without legal action, the newspaper was unceremoniously shut down. This newspaper and its staff has been persecuted by the Sukarno regime because it has been honest.

The American press should give more publicity to the persecution of press and of writers abroad. The need for honest information is world-wide. A campaign beginning in this country could roll around the world and have its effect on governments and politicians which restrict the press, shut down newspapers, persecute staffs and jail editors and writers. The Indonesian embassy in Washington might not at all be insensitive to such a campaign or to letters of protest.

The American people are not protesting enough for the liberty of brave and honest men abroad who are being arrested because they try to write honestly and to tell the truth.

The poets who get rhapsodic about snow probably are indoors writing poems about the stuff instead of outside shoveling it.

WINTER HAZARDS

The season's early snows, particularly the first snow of all, generally contrive to play hob with traffic. Later in the winter, drivers are mentally geared to the extra hazards of snow on the streets, but early in the season an inch or two of the white stuff can throw a whole town out of kilter. There is something wryly amusing about the spectacle of drivers, used to bowling along at a good clip, suddenly finding themselves reduced to a hesitant crawl. There is something comical about cars backing down hills and sliding into curbs and getting jammed into long rows because someone up front lost headway. The impact of a snowfall on traffic has its lighter side, all right. But the unpleasant

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
HALTON VS. STACE

In the famous Princeton controversy, which continues, a principal issue is the age old argument between two metaphysicians, Father Hugh Halton, Dominican, graduate of Harvard and Oxford, and W. T. Stace, Stuart Professor of Philosophy, graduate of Dublin University and once a police magistrate and mayor of Colombo, Ceylon. The subject of the controversy is religion versus naturalism—Is the universe and all that is contained therein the creation of God, that is the product of natural law or is it the work of blind forces working out an indefinable destiny? Is it all causal or casual?

This is a very ancient argument and probably will never end. One side takes it on faith; the other battles for evidence which becomes increasingly elusive as we accumulate more data. As I write this, I have before me two very important and serious works by Professor W. T. Stace. One, "Religion and the Modern Mind," has had widespread circulation in colleges and therefore a profound effect upon the minds of young people. The other, "Time and Eternity," is undoubtedly the more significant work because it is a valid attempt to reach conclusions concerning religion without limiting the study to Christianity. Stace understands the religions of the East.

Usually such a debate has little significance in the practical affairs of men. But we are living in an era of dubious morality, in which men and women and young people believe that all things are relative and therefore no absolutes are tenable. Whether it is this concept of life that has produced the juvenile delinquency of the 1950's as it may have abetted the adult delinquency of the 1920-1930's, the fact remains that agnosticism and atheism are being widely adopted in many parts of the world at a period of socially perilous immorality.

Both Stace books were published in 1952. In "Religion and the Modern Mind," Professor Stace says: "... if the world is not ruled by a designing mind, but only by the blind laws of nature, then... the world would be an indiscriminate mixture of good and bad things... Thus if, as a matter of logic, we treat God as an hypothesis, we find that chance is a better hypothesis than God."

In a word, Stace here rejects the casual, that is God. However, in "Time and Eternity," Stace enters upon the search for God. In the very preface, he describes the basic struggle of the human mind for understanding. He says that the struggle between science and religion continues as the search for God continues. Then he says: "... For religion is the hunger of the soul for the impossible, the unattainable, the inconceivable. This is not something which it merely happens to be, an unfortunate accident or disaster which befalls it in the world. This is its essence, and this is its glory. This is what religion means..."

Then he adds: "Religion seeks the light. But it is not a light which can be found at any place or time. It is not somewhere. It is the light which is nowhere. It is the light which never was on sea or land. Never was. Never will be, even in the infinite stretches of future time. The light is non-existent, as the poet himself says. Yet it is the great light which poetically lights the world. And this, too, the poet implies."

Stace reaches the conclusion: "... There is but one religious spirit of man, though we speak of many religions. The different religions have been produced by different environments reacting with the same basic human religious sensitivities. And just as an aesthetically sensitive westerner responds instantly to the appeal of a Chinese painting, so the religiously sensitive westerner responds instantly to the spiritual vision and religious passion of the Upanishads."

The real conflict between Father Halton and Professor Stace is not over man's search for God but God's authority over man's own creation, man. In a word, Professor Stace is eclectic and finds much in all religions, particularly Buddhism and Hinduism with which he is familiar by association and study; Father Halton is the defender of Catholic Christianity, a follower of the Nicene and Apostles' Creeds by belief and vocation. Such a debate is interesting and important in these times and should not have been reduced to the absurdity of social excommunication. (Copyright, 1957, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Winter Increases Danger Of Carbon Monoxide Fumes
By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

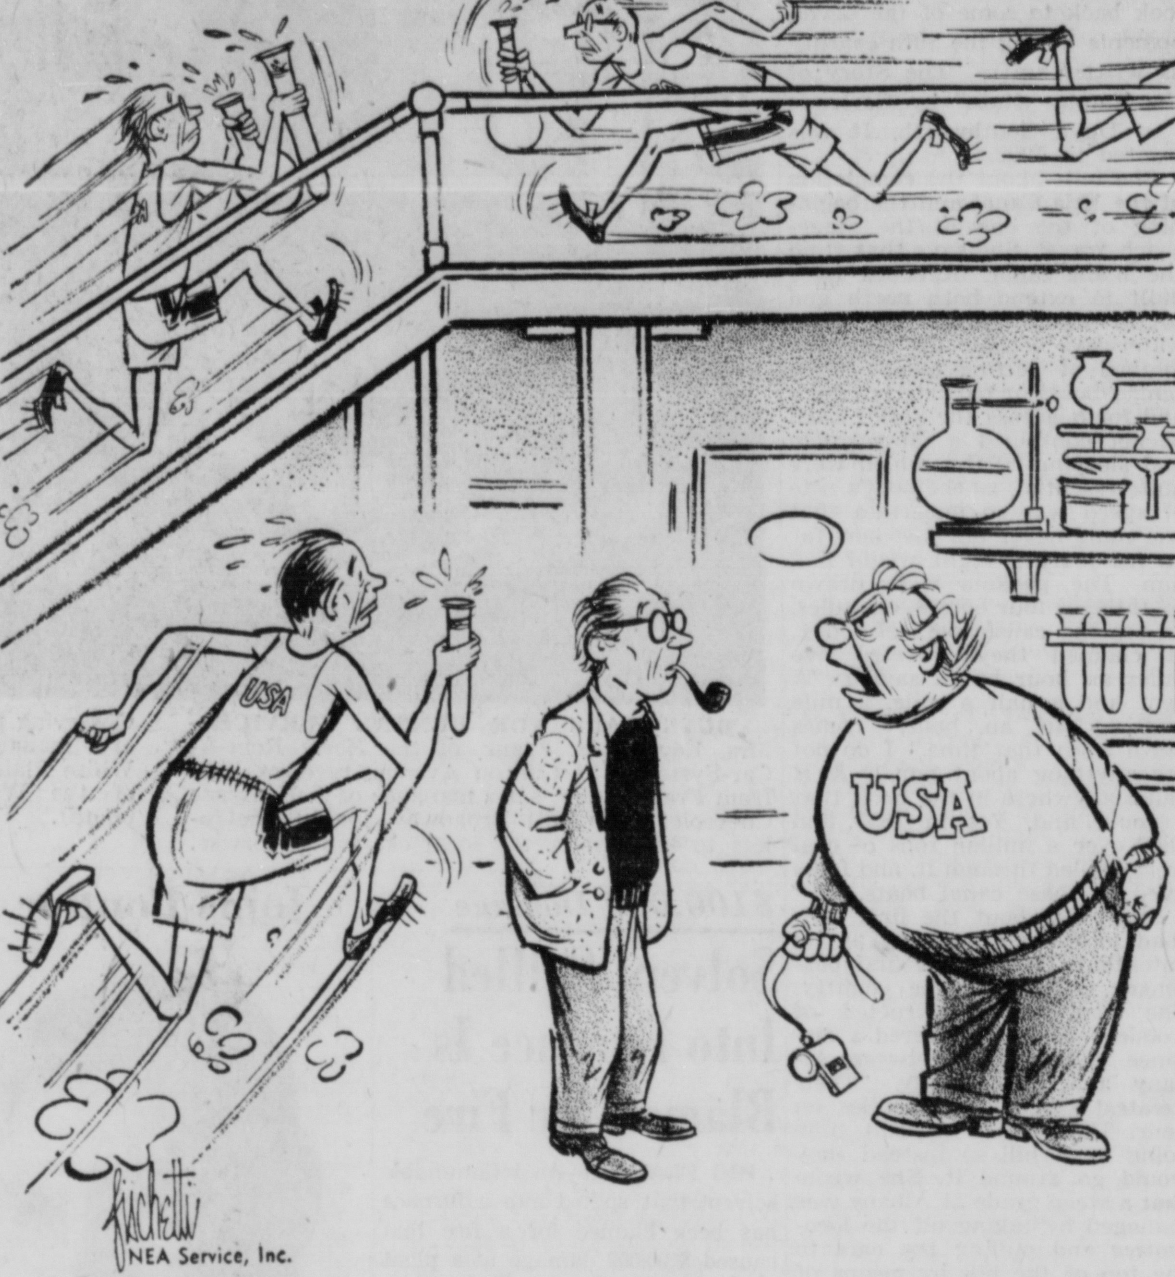

Every so often we read or hear about someone who was found dead while sitting in a car in a closed garage. The cause of death is usually carbon monoxide poisoning produced by running the motor of the car in a place without fresh air. Similar tragedies may come from faulty heaters. The exhaust of a car produces and releases carbon monoxide. When this is breathed, the odorless gas combines with a portion of the blood known as hemoglobin which normally carries oxygen to the tissues. If carbon monoxide replaces oxygen in the hemoglobin the tissues are starved for life-giving oxygen. It quickly causes unconsciousness and death.

The danger from carbon monoxide poisoning is greater in winter than in summer. Because of the cold weather houses and garages are likely to be shut up tight and fresh air does not circulate as it does in the summer. This means that a furnace, heater, or running motor of an automobile in a closed space will produce carbon monoxide which is not properly mixed with oxygen. WHEN ONLY small amounts of carbon monoxide are present, warning symptoms may occur, such as headache, dizziness, nausea, muscular weakness and a generally uncomfortable feeling. When large amounts of carbon monoxide are present, the victim becomes drowsy and unconscious so rapidly that these symptoms are lacking. Chronic poisoning from carbon monoxide probably does not exist. One would expect it to be found in people who are exposed to small amounts of carbon monoxide for long periods of time, such as those working in certain mining operations, near furnaces, or in garages. But actually such persons do not seem to be harmed in any way.

THE USE of defective stoves or furnaces or running the motor of an automobile in a closed garage are more dangerous than playing with dynamite. If a person who has been exposed to carbon monoxide is still alive, he should be removed from the bad air at once. Artificial respiration and giving oxygen as soon as possible are desirable. Fire department crews, police and gas company employees are usually trained to give rapid emergency treatment for this form of poisoning. Taking a chance on being revived does not make much sense, however. Those who use gas heaters in their sleeping quarters should make sure that these devices are in good condition. Sleeping with the windows open is an additional safeguard. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

ant fact remains that slick streets can also be a prelude to mishaps and even tragedy. The volume of such incidents could be greatly reduced if every driver would resolve to drive with the care that winter conditions demand.

Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — White House sources report that Ike plans to paint an ultra-modern abstraction this year to give to the staff members for a Christmas present.

Each Christmas the President tries to paint a special picture for them. But last year the election kept him so busy that he had to give photographs of himself and Mamie instead. He promised, though, that next time he would be sure to have a painting ready.

Now, however, it's reported that the only way Ike can keep his promise is to simply splash paint on the canvas. His crowded schedule of top level defense talks just doesn't leave him enough time to do one of his painstaking portraits or landscapes.

GENIAL Pakistan Ambassador Mohammed Ali scored a double social triumph the other night. For the ladies, he produced Rita Hayworth's glamorous ex-husband Aly Khan. For the men and the ladies, he produced a sensational dinner of Middle East delicacies.

The best-looking dolls of Washington society were there and from the way they drooled over Aly, it was obvious that not one thought he was overrated as a lady-killer.

"What's he got that we haven't got with women?" one disgruntled male guest asked another.

"Millions, brother, millions," the other replied.

Any plique which any male guest might have felt about all the female attention Aly Khan was getting at the Pakistan ambassador's dinner was quickly forgotten when dinner was served.

Veal Kebab and murg musalam—roasted whole chicken with spice, raisins and almonds—were the main dishes along with beef curry and roast leg of lamb. There was also fish cooked in grapes; puree, a fried bread; and rice pilaf. Dessert was kheer, a kind of ice cream molded with rice, milk, rose water and coconut.

Needless to add, the champagne flowed freely.

FORMER PRESIDENT Franklin Roosevelt lived to regret the day he ever admitted that he liked the tune "Home on the Range." They played it for him so much, it's reported that he ended up loathing the song.

And the same is likely to be true of Mamie Eisenhower admitting that she is fond of the color pink. On her recent 61st birthday, at least four separate parties were given for her and each one featured a pink motif.

She was presented pink gloves, pink handkerchiefs, a pink hat, pink flowers, pink lemonade, a pink fountainpen and at the last party she attended that afternoon, six cases of pink champagne were broken open and everyone drank a toast to her.

"All she needs now is to be escorted back to the White House by a Pinkerton detective instead of the Secret Service," one guest cracked.

WHITE HOUSE Press Secretary James Hagerity is back from a vacation in Puerto Rico tanned, rested and ready to work.

When he walked into his office, he found a magazine and on his desk showing a man holding a bottle of rum. Someone had cut off the man's head and replaced it with a photo of Hagerity.

At the bottom was written, "Something New I Discovered in Puerto Rico."

WASHINGTON society is getting ready to greet a new crop of debutantes with the glitter and sparkle of the annual Debutante Cotillion and Thanksgiving Ball.

This year 40 of the most gorgeous debuts the capital has seen in some time will make their debut at the lavish affair, reports Mary Stuart Price, debutante social adviser.

Among them will be Eileen Alcorn, lovely daughter of the Republican National Committee chairman, Meade Alcorn, and blonde, petite Antoinette Chautemps, daughter of the former French premier.

The French embassy is reported to be so enthusiastic that they have reserved three tables for the event.

HERE ARE THREE brand-new cocktails recently introduced to Washington party goers.

One truth forces itself upon us, the contradiction between the immense possibilities of our country (France) and the political crisis that paralyze it.

We haven't been sitting on our ditty-box. Readiness is our mission out here.

—Vice Adm. Wallace M. Beakley on the state of the U. S. 7th Fleet in the Pacific.

I didn't mind when it was 16 hours a day, but when it got to be 20 and 24 hours we had to either go on the eight-hour day or ruin our health.

—Moultrie County, Ill., Sheriff Glenn Braden announcing new duty hours for himself and his one deputy.

If our allies continue to ask this country to risk its very existence, we have every right to ask adequate economic assistance.

Piermen Return After Dispute

NEW YORK (AP)—Longshoremen reported to work today as usual following apparent settlement of a dispute with the bi-state Waterfront Commission after a half-day work stoppage yesterday.

Officials of Local 824 of the International Longshoremen's Assn. advised the 1,000 dock workers on the luxury liner piers to return to work, saying the commission had promised not to serve subpoenas during working hours on men whom it wanted to question about baggage handling.

The stoppage yesterday halted cargo handling on four ships and delayed their sailing.

The stevedores, members of Local 824, pulled the surprise strike out of resentment against a Waterfront Commission probe into operations of independent baggage transfer agents.

The local complained that commission investigators were "hounding" and "harassing" them, dogging their footsteps on and off ships they were working.

A commission spokesman said the agency has the power to investigate and was "doing just that."

The spokesman for the bi-state commission said it has received evidence of some pier workers "steering" passengers to baggage transfer agents who wait on the streets outside the docks. He said the commission is interested in why passengers are steered to these agents and who these agents are.

Manhunt Fails To Flush Out Murder Suspect

DENVER (AP)—The greatest manhunt in Denver's recent history failed today to flush out Albert Kostal, an armed murder suspect who escaped from jail.

Kostal, 37, turned up with a hostage in the downtown business section yesterday. He later released the man unarmed.

Ten detective teams armed with riot guns roved the city on a 24-hour basis. There were roadblocks at every city exit.

"We think he's still here and we hope to get him by keeping him on the run without sleep," Detective Chief James Childers said.

Kostal and Arthur Watson, 30, broke out of the Jefferson County jail in Golden, 13 miles west of Denver, Thursday night. They were awaiting trial on murder charges filed in the fatal shooting last Dec. 9 of Ray Isley, a Mer chant policeman.

It was Kostal's third prison break and Watson's second, Childers said.

Kostal, described by police as extremely dangerous, was last reported seen shortly after noon yesterday, when he released Oliver P. Reed, a utility company personnel manager.

Reed said Kostal forced his way into the businessman's apartment, shaved, drank two pots of coffee and dressed in a shirt, tie, sportcoat and hat owned by Reed.

Kostal forced Reed to drive him uptown, police said. He then bought a blue suit from a second-hand clothing store and disappeared.

WORCESTER, Vt. (AP)—Airplanes, a helicopter and volunteers joined State Police today in a search of spow-covered Hampshire Hill for a small plane believed to have crashed early today.

Civil Aeronautic officials at Burlington said the plane reported it was in difficulty flying over Burlington. They said they believed the pilot was Roderick Ryer of Hawthorne, N. Y., who had stopped at Burlington yesterday enroute to Montreal and indicated he intended to return home today.

Ryer and a companion left the Newport, Vt., airport at 1:30 a. m. for the Dutchess County Airport in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Dr. Walter Ryer of Hawthorne said his 24-year-old son was a jet pilot in the National Guard and a business student at Columbia University.

Several Worcester residents reported they were awakened by a low flying plane during an overnight snowstorm. Mrs. Glenn Daily, whose home is two miles from Worcester village, reported she heard a loud crash.

Prof. A. C. Lovell, director of the Jodelle Bank Radio Astronomical Station near Cheshire, England, said scientists there had been unable to locate the Sputnik 1 rocket casing this morning.

"We do not know even if it is still up there," Lovell said, and added "I shall be very surprised if it lasts the day."

The Herald Tribune said the "tightly-held survey" was prepared for the Office of Defense Mobilization for the attention of President Eisenhower and the National Security Council.

The report is said to point out that Russia is devoting at least three times more of its gross national product to military purposes than the United States and to imply that the Soviet Union will have operational Intercontinental Ballistic Missiles by 1960.

State Educators
public education units in New York, was made by a team headed by Dr. Theodore C. Blegen, dean of the graduate school of the University of Minnesota.

Blegen made the report on the group's findings.

The ex-officio chairman of the research foundation is Dr. William S. Carlson, president of the State University. A university spokesman said yesterday the State University had not authorized publication of the report.

The reports received the report at a meeting Thursday but took no action on it.

Frank C. Moore, chairman of the State University board of trustees, said the recommendations in the report did not necessarily reflect the view of the trustees or the research foundation itself.

Blegen proposed establishment of a central campus to give direction and provide leadership in research and graduate studies for the existing units.

Such a plan, before it could be carried out, would need approval of the university trustees, the board of regents, the state Legislature and, if a bond issue were needed, the voters.

Paper Will Come Out Regardless of Strike

HAVERHILL, Mass. (AP)—Publisher J. Wesley Russ says the Haverhill Gazette will publish Monday with or without the help of 31 printers whose walkout has caused a three-day shutdown on the newspaper.

Russ made the announcement yesterday as federal and state mediators called for a new conference today in an attempt to settle the strike. No agreement was reached in a 3½ hour session last Thursday.

The printers, who seek a formal contract with clauses that would give the International Typographical Union jurisdiction over all typesetting, struck last Wednesday.

They have worked under informal arrangements with the newspaper for the past 10 years.

Kurdt to Address CA Men Monday

Albert Kurdt, manager of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, will address the men of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church at 8 p. m. Monday.

Plans for December Appearance of NBC Opera Company in Kingston Are Progressing

Advance preparations began this week for the presentation of the NBC Opera Company on stage at the Community Theatre, Broadway, Saturday, Dec. 7, 8:30 p. m. for members of the Community Concert Association. Opening the local association's concert series, the company will give Puccini's famous opera, "Madame Butterfly."

Kingston will mark the end of the current tour for the company which started in South Bend, Ind., and proceeded through the southwest, south and northeastern parts of the country playing in 63 cities in all.

Transported in four buses and three moving vans on its rugged national trek, the company boasts a star laden cast plus a 45-piece orchestra. The company, noted for its flexibility, performed perhaps its neatest trick of the tour in Oklahoma City. Prima donna Elaine Malbin was forced to retire from her performance in "La Traviata" after the first act due to the effects of the flu. Prima donna Maria DiGerlando stepped in for the last three acts to wild applause and a standing ovation at the conclusion of the performance.

CHILDREN GIVEN FIRST CONSIDERATION

Dear Mrs. Post: My son will be 7 years old next month and as usual, he is looking forward to a birthday party, but I assure you I am not. If it was just children I wouldn't mind, but the mothers always bring the children to the house and stay on throughout the afternoon, and not only do I have to entertain the children but their mothers as well. It is quite an ordeal and usually results in the children being neglected. Have you any suggestions as to what could be done about this?

Answer: The children are old enough to come without their mothers and let us hope you won't have many this year. However, even if they come your obligation is not to the mothers but to the children, and the mothers could be left to talk to each other while you give your attention to the amusement of the children who are your real guests.

Writing to Friends in Service
Dear Mrs. Post: We are two teen-aged girls who are being criticized by our mothers for closing our letters to our friends in the service with the word "love." We know these boys quite well and think it is ever so much more friendly than closing with "sincerely." Mother thinks the boys will take this seriously.

Answer: I agree with your mothers that closing your letters with "love" might be misunderstood. But I think "sincerely" to a boy that you know well would be absurd. However, you might close with "with best wishes," "good luck to you," "as ever," "as always" or even "affectionately."

In Gratitude to Our Nurses
Dear Mrs. Post: What about tipping trained nurses who work for the hospital? I know that some of my friends have given them something but wonder whether this is necessary.

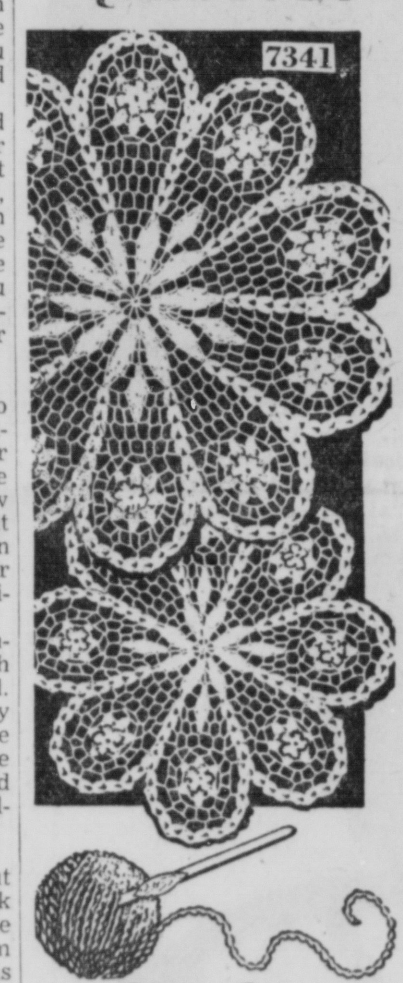

Answer: I dislike the term tipping in this instance. Some people do send certain ones gifts afterwards, with a note in appreciation. But nothing more than thank you at the time of leaving is necessary or generally customary. A worthwhile gift of money sent to "buy something of your own choosing" would undoubtedly not be unwelcome.

Miss Leila Van Deusen, missionary in India, who is the guest of her brother, the Rev. Clayton G. She spoke of her work at the school of missionaries' children in the hills of Kodak in India, where she became a missionary. She told of experiences she had in visiting the villages of India during vacation periods and how she decided to become a full time missionary. She showed colored slides of scenes in India, showing some of the beautiful scenery, the different occupations of the people, their religion, and their homes and life.

She had samples of some of the minute work which they carve out of ivory. She garbed Miss Marilyn Wolven in a bold bordered light blue sari to show the different ways the Indian women wear this versatile garment.

Mrs. Percy Crosswell of Kingston, president of the local group of United Lutheran Church Women, conducted the service. Mrs. G. Oliver Sands read the scripture lessons. #### Too Many Bids Get Low Score

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

The unlucky expert had me in his clutches again but you readers aren't going to escape either. Listen to his tale of woe.

"If only my partners would not insist on bidding my hands for me. We had a nice game going in last night's duplicate when I picked up this South hand. West opened one diamond and when my partner doubled I could see trouble rearing its ugly head.

"I responded one heart and after West passed, my partner bid one no-trump. Needless to say I passed and I was delighted when West went to two diamonds. My delight did not last long. My partner had to make one more bid. This time it was two hearts.

"I wanted to go to two no-trump; not constructively but rather to get out of what looked like sure trouble in hearts but I knew he would go on to game and I could not stand that. Hence I passed and took my medicine.

"It was bitter all right. West opened the king of diamonds and shifted to the queen of clubs. I ducked and the jack was led. I put up dummy's ace and took three rounds of spades in order to discard my one remaining club. West ruffed, laid down the the Blackfeet tribes and others—for several years.

After his talk Mr. Jacques generously presented the group with several of his beautiful Indian prints to be used as prizes. They were presented to Mrs. Zenna Winslow for being the finalist in the elimination march, and Mrs. Dorothy Cauer and Miss Mal Slonin.

Mrs. Emily Youngs, a youthful lady who celebrated her 77th birthday Nov. 9, cut the birthday cake and Mrs. Samuel Lentz played waltzes dedicated to all the guests who are having birthdays during the month.

After a time out for chatting with friends while partaking of refreshments, Mrs. Fennel Frankling called for a rising vote of thanks to the Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee, the sponsors of the club and the meeting ended with the singing of Auld Lang Syne.

Announcements will be made of the Christmas party of the club which is being planned for Tuesday, Dec. 10.

Chamber Music Concert Scheduled on Dec. 1
The first in the series of winter chamber music concerts to be presented by the Festival Committee will be given at the Art Gallery, Sunday, Dec. 1, at 3:30 p. m. Included in the program will be two piano trios and a duet for piano and violin.

The performing artists will be Elsa Sass, noted pianist who has been heard in many concerts in Woodstock during the past seven years and also in great demand in New York as an accompanist, chamber musician and teacher; Ernest Drucker, violinist, who is a first violinist with the Metropolitan Opera Orchestra, a post which he has held for many years, and a former member of the famous Busch Quartet. He has also played in Woodstock concerts on and off during past years. The third artist is Woodstock's Dr. Hans J. Cohn, cellist, who has been active in the musical life here for a long time and also participated in many Woodstock concerts.

Patient Home Care Is Topic on December 4
Classes in instruction for home care of patients with short-term illness will be given at the Woodstock Health Center beginning Wednesday, Dec. 4, at 1:30 p. m.

These classes are being sponsored by Health Departments throughout the state to prepare members of households to give nursing care to their families in the event of widespread illness this winter.

The course consists of two sessions of about two hours each and will be given by Miss Anne C. Cassidy, Woodstock Public Health Nurse and is sponsored by the Ulster County Health Department.

Parents Club to Hold Program on Toys, Play

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Some years ago, singer John Raitt visited Mary Martin backstage while she was starting in "Annie Get Your Gun" in Los Angeles.

"I'd sure like to do this show with you some day," he told her, next Wednesday night he'll do the show with her before what promises to be one of the biggest audiences of all-time. Martin and Raitt will star in "Annie" on a two-hour spectacular via NBC.

Best Planned
The show is one of the best-planned in TV history. Mary and her husband, Richard Halliday, joined with Edwin Lester of the Civic Light Opera to put on the show before live audiences for 10 weeks in San Francisco and Los Angeles. Some warmup!

TV rehearsals have been intense. Most shows get only one day's work with cameras; "Annie" is getting seven!

Raitt paused between rehearsals to tell about the show. An advocate of positive thinking, he is convinced it is going to be great.

"The two leading roles are better balanced than they have ever been," he commented. "On the stage, there isn't much a leading man can do up against Ethel Merman. And Howard Keel couldn't make too much impression in the picture with Betty Hutton."

"But we've switched the show to make Frank Butler a more rewarding character instead of a stuck-up stuffed shirt.

"For instance, the play originally had him make his entrance surrounded by girls. It was strictly operetta staging; I've been in enough operettas to know. So we let him make his entrance unobtrusively. When he leaves, he has the girls chasing after him. What better exit could an actor want?"

"More motivation is supplied in the love scenes and duets, he added, so that Frank Butler becomes a more sympathetic character.

Powerful Axis
Having seen the stage version, I can vouch that the Martin-Raitt axis is a powerful one. Fortunately, there is no rivalry between them and they are the best of friends. So much so that they are talking about going to New York with a musical repertory—doing "Annie," "South Pacific" and "Peter Pan" in one season.

This is Raitt's biggest year. "Annie" will bring him before his biggest audience ever, and he made a fine impression earlier in "Pajama Game," his first starring film. Plus which his Capitol albums are selling nicely and he can have his pick of the singing leads in future Broadway shows.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—I never really wanted to be an actress. I always hoped to be a pianist. But I had to eat, and acting seemed like the natural thing to do, since the family was already in it.

This was Ethel Barrymore's reflection on her career on the eve of a nationwide tribute to her 64 years as queen of the American theater. Tomorrow night, NBC will televise a "command and performance" in her honor. Saluting her will be Claudette Colbert, Joseph Cotten, Hoagy Carmichael, daughter Ethel Barrymore, Col. plus baseball greats Leo Durocher, Fred Haney, Casey Stengel and Roy Campanella.

Still Barrymore Fire
This week Miss Barrymore gave one of her rare interviews in the Beverly Hills apartment where she lives with her son, Sammy Colt. At 78, she doesn't get around as much as she used to. But as she spoke, she demonstrated she still has the Barrymore fire and the ability to impale an interviewer on her own questions.

What does she think about all this fuss over her on TV?
"Why, I think it's very complimentary," she snapped. "Who wouldn't be honored by it? What a strange question!"

The bedroom was dominated by the great eye of a TV set and I asked if she watched it much.
"Yes, I watch it," she replied. "I have seen some of my old pictures lately. It's the first time I've seen myself on the screen."

Her classic reply as to why she never saw her pictures has always been: "I never saw myself on the stage."

So what does she think of Ethel Barrymore the actress now that she has seen herself?
"I wasn't too greatly upset," she said.

Great Baseball Fan
Baseball is always an easier topic to discuss with her. I asked her how she felt about big league teams moving to the coast. She said she was neither a Giant or Dodger fan; she's a "baseball fan" with a capital B.

"What disturbs me is the empty seats I see in the stadiums, even when big teams play on the Saturday games on TV," she commented. "I saw a pro football game last Sunday that had the same sea of empty seats. But then, I guess there are a lot of empty seats in movie theaters, too."

Does she agree with some observers that America is undergoing a revolution in entertainment and recreation patterns?
"Perhaps so," she said. "But we are undergoing even greater changes that too many people are unaware of. It is frightening."

Veterans' Rights, Benefits Listed

Howard C. Shurter, county director of Veterans' Service Agency, and William Hartman, state veteran counselor NYS Division of Veterans Affairs, submit another in a series of articles on rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen and other dependents.

Scholarships—Candidates for New York State scholarships for children of deceased or disabled veterans are considered in one group if they are children of disabled veterans. No distinction is made under scholarship rules between children of veterans with service-connected disability and children of veterans with non-service connected disabilities.

Civil Service—Veterans with VA non-service pensions are entitled to disabled veterans preference under Federal civil service law and rules. This means that veterans in receipt of $66.15 or $78.75 a month pensions can request preference as a disabled veteran when applying for a Federal government job. VA will furnish a statement of such disability status for the Federal Civil Service Commission on request of the veteran.

Medical—Peacetime veterans retired from the U. S. armed forces who elect to receive VA disability compensation are entitled to VA out-patient treatment service for their service-connected disabilities.

Education—There is no limit to the number of children in a deceased veteran's family who are eligible for educational benefits under the War Orphans Educational Assistance Act. All children in the family are entitled to benefits generally when they reach the age of 18.

Armed Forces—Commissioned officers or former commissioned officers of the U. S. armed forces who were advanced in grade between July 1, 1932 and June 30, 1934, who did not receive raises in pay and allowances when they were promoted may now submit a claim for reimbursement under Public Law 85-255. Widows and legal representatives may also file claims in the case of deceased officers. All claims must be filed by September 2, 1959.

New Laws—Some women who formerly were not recognized by the VA as a legal widow of a veteran may now be entitled to widow benefits under a change made in the law during the last session of Congress. The new law allows the VA to consider a marriage to be valid if a woman entered the marriage in good faith, that is, if she married without knowing that there was a legal bar to the marriage. A marriage will be considered valid under the law provided: (1) The marriage would have been valid if a legal impediment had not existed. (2) The couple had resided together for five or more years immediately before the veteran's death. (3) No claim for VA widow's benefits has been submitted by a legal widow of the veteran. Before this new legislation was passed the existence of legal widowhood had to be established in order for a widow to qualify for VA widow's benefits.

Questions about the rights and benefits of veterans, and their dependents may be submitted for individual attention to the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency office at 32 Main Street, Kingston.

Carpets Provide Sound Control

Studies made at Columbia University and the Bureau of Standards in Washington show that carpet is a highly effective material for sound control.

Today's houses are better planned and more efficient, but with all their improvements they are noisier. The extensive use of glass and other hard surfaces, the multiplicity of appliances with their work-saving motors, stronger but lighter construction, smaller rooms with lower ceilings—and larger families—are all factors that can build up and sustain noise. However, this problem can be met with carpet that deadens sound at the source, and helps to prevent its transfer.

Just Plain Joists

Don't worry about the ceiling, if you are converting the basement into a play room. The exposed joists and subflooring can be painted in some light color, or they can be stained. If the wood is rough an electric sander will knock off most high spots.

Where Informal Luxury Abounds

The Home of the week Plan Service today features the "Peter," a six room house of unusual design that will provide the best features of the informal living that is so popular today.

The house is a ranch type structure in that all of its rooms are on one level. But the exterior touches are definitely of the traditional period, while skillful design has eliminated the plain severity common to many ranch homes.

Open planning is utilized to some extent in the "Peter," but its application has not been overdone. There will be privacy in this home when desired.

General Layout

The living room, an activities or family room and one bedroom extend across the front of the house.

At the rear of the formal dining room, the kitchen, denette and the "Peters" second bedroom. The 24-foot, nine-inch by 14-foot, four-inch living room is entered from the left side of the foyer. The entrance foyer itself extends toward the back of the house joining with a cross hall serving the kitchen, family room and bedrooms.

The living room and the formal dining room make the most use of open planning. The dining room at the rear of the "Peter" opens directly off the living room, with only a planter across part of the opening serving to mark the dividing point.

Outdoor Living

This home also takes note of another popular feature of today's modern living—outdoor living.

Between the dining room and the porch, large sliding glass doors could be used to the best advantage. In this manner, the 12 by 12½-foot formal dining room could well be made a part of the 10 by 12-foot porch.

The porch itself could be as useful as a family would want. It could be "closed in" with perhaps only a wrought iron railing on its two open sides. Or it could provide maximum usage through installation of combination screen and glass units. But enclosure with screening could perhaps give it the best use at a minimum of expenditure.

Living Room Fireplace

The living room of the "Peter" features a fireplace which corners into the planter extending across the living-dining room opening. Extensive use of glass in the living room and dining room of the "Peter" will add charm to the home. Picture window units could be used most advantageously in the front wall of the living room and the rear wall of the dining room.

The kitchen and its adjoining denette, combined, measure 21 feet, eight inches and each has an approximate width of 12 feet. Food serving to the denette from the kitchen is simplified through the use of a bullnose counter extending between the two areas from the rear wall.

This same counter unit could also be adopted for use as a snack bar, something children perhaps would most enjoy.

Family Room

Among the top features of the "Peter" is the activities or family room.

This area is 19 feet, two inches by 13 feet. Its extra depth from front to back is obtained from the center projection from the house. It is also this style unit that provides the house with a little different architectural appearance mentioned earlier.

Off the activities room is a lavatory.

Convenient Linen Storage

The two linen closets are conveniently located. One of these units is contained within the bathroom proper while the other is in the bedroom hall but adjacent to the bathroom.

The master bedroom, at the front of the house, measures 15 feet, three inches by 12 feet. The second bedroom is at the rear of the house and is 12 feet square.

The "Peter" would perhaps look best if clapboard siding were used. Another attractive design feature could be added through the use of a cupola at the center of the roof over the bedroom wing.

The plan of the "Peter" is acceptable to both the FHA and the VA.

Blueprints Available

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost.

Condensation Big Problem in Homes

Possibly the most disturbing problem to a new home owner is condensation. This may cause him to believe moisture is seeping through cellar walls, that the basement or pipes are leaking, or that water is coming through the windows.

Condensation takes place wherever warm, moist air inside the house comes in contact with a colder surface, as window, cellar walls and exposed pipes. If the window condensation is excessive, it can be stopped by putting up storm windows.

Sanding

Sanding is an important step in any home workshop or home improvement project in which popular hardwood plywoods are used. The panels generally are pre-sanded at the factory, so the purpose of homesanding is to remove any accumulation of grime or pencil marks and to make the surface satin-smooth for finishing. Always sand in the direction of the grain. Generally, a three-stage sanding is plenty, using medium, fine and very fine sandpaper in that order.

Check Danger Spots

When checking your house before painting it this spring, pay special attention to the "danger spots." These are the sills, thresholds, porch floors and steps, joints of porch railings and palings, bases of pillars, edges of eaves, flashings, roofs, gutters and downspouts. Unless these surfaces are fully protected by paint against the ravages of weather, expensive repairs may soon be required.

Coordination Is Needed to Make Tranquil Room

There are women who should see a psychiatrist before decorating their homes.

Many a man has come home from a hard day at the office to find that his wife has painted the living room or study (where he'd planned to relax) a vivid orange or other stampeding color, hardly conducive to his nerves.

Homemakers should take a leaf from medical researchers and other experts who planned a "peace of mind" room for tranquil living, coordinating all ingredients of the room—color, fabric, furniture, lighting and artwork—into a peace theme designed to soothe harried emotions. The room stressed warm soft pastels such as dusty rose or pale yellow to provide cheerful, warm, light and airy feeling. Warm colors, the experts suggest, should border on cool colors such as soft blue-green or gray. Two cool colors or two violently warm colors are likely to irritate you.

Red stimulates and speeds the reactions and may make you nervous, they say. Blue seems to quiet the nerves but leads to a depressed feeling after a time. Designers who studied the fabric problem in relation to tranquility reported that novelty or nubby fabrics and highly contrasting textures may be distracting and unnerving.

Soft light should be used, they say. Too-bright light is likely to dull appreciation of objects and persons.

The body should be rested before the mind can be put at ease, the designers point out, so it is important to choose comfortable furniture for your restful room. A soft, high-back chair with an ottoman, one that fits the man in size and pleases him in style is essential to comfort.

Kelly Addresses Ulster Taxpayers

Organized taxpayer groups should be "watchdog" at town meetings, and aim at getting out the vote, Attorney William A. Kelly, chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Committee, told members of the Taxpayers and Voters Association of the town of Ulster, Inc. at a meeting held Thursday evening at the Emma Wygant School.

Voters, he asserted, make the final decision and any organized taxpayer group should not only be concerned with the reduction of taxes, but should serve "in the dual role of watchdog at town meetings and as a means of getting out the vote."

Kelly said such groups should also prevent unnecessarily high taxes, urge citizens to attend town meetings and take an active part in government. Another speaker at the meeting was William Persella, chairman of public relations, who reported on the town budget for 1958.

No meeting is scheduled in December, but a session of the board of directors will be held Monday, Jan. 6, 1958 at the home of Gifford Beal. The next regular meeting is scheduled Thursday, Jan. 23.

Provide Better Surface

Gloss and semi-gloss enamels provide a harder surface than flat paint and produce high-lighted finishes that dry in a few hours, are easily washed, and give years of service. They are ideal for woodwork, furniture and for all surfaces in the bathroom or kitchen. Available in white and many colors, their application should be preceded by a special enamel undercoat.

Cleaning Time For Electrical Motors in House

Electrical motors in refrigerators, washing machines and the like often emerge from winter wearing a coating of dust accumulated during the dry-air period when the house was heated.

It's a good idea to check the motors around the house, using a vacuum cleaner to clean away dust and debris that would tend to prevent ventilation and cause the motor to run too hot.

If the motor is not of the sealed-bearing type it should be oiled every six months under ordinary running conditions—but never with more than one or two drops of oil at a time.

Plywood Used To Make Stove

A kitchen stove of hardwood plywood is one of the many unusual features of a "House of Tomorrow" built recently near Long Beach, Calif. The plywood kitchen range houses magnetic coils which set up eddy currents in the cooking utensils. This does the actual cooking. The utensils are suspended two inches above the surface of the stove by means of magnetic repulsion, and the wood range never gets hot.

Remove Old Coat Before Repainting

When painting over an old coat that is chipping and peeling, make sure that all loose paint is removed with a wire brush, steel wool or coarse sandpaper. Next, sand the surface smooth, especially the edges of patches of old paint. If some of the old coat is still glossy in spots, reach again for the sandpaper. A new coat will adhere more efficiently if the surface to which it is applied has "tooth," as they say in the trade.

Sputniks Don't Affect Everyone

1958 Election Year Likely To End Nonpartisan Attitude

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — High-level and nonpartisan? Maybe. But will it last? Don't bet on it. Next year's an election year.

The shock of the Russian Sputniks has had a quieting effect on some American politicians. Not on all. Not, for instance, on former president Truman.

But there's Adlai Stevenson busily working as a consultant to Secretary of State Dulles.

And Lyndon Johnson of Texas, leader of the Senate Democrats, has taken a very high-level position. So has Vice-President Nixon.

Next week a Senate subcommittee headed by Sen. Johnson begins an investigation of why this country lagged on missiles and satellites and what can be done about it.

Would Leave Out Politics

Johnson has indicated he wants the committee, made up of Democrats and Republicans, to make its inquiry in a nonpartisan way, leaving politics outside.

But in next year's congressional elections all 435 house seats are at stake. So are one-third of the Senate's 96 seats.

Missiles and Sputniks will have a political and emotional value for some time, particularly in 1958 if the Russians shot up some more Sputniks to show how good they are.

Last night Nixon climbed up on the nonpartisan shelf with Johnson.

He said those familiar with the background know the lag in missiles and satellites is "primarily because the United States got started later than the Soviet Union."

Nixon had an answer for the lag.

"The reason lies not in any specific political decision but in a calculated decision made by the military people. We chose to concentrate on long-range strategic bombers."

"The Soviet Union concentrated to a certain extent on long-range bombers but also in missiles at the same time."

Thus Nixon, before the investigations begin, sought to pull the question out of politics and put the blame on the nonpolitical military men in the Defense Department.

But the Defense Department, when the decision was made to build these big bombers, was under the Truman administration.

Truman, never a nonpartisan and not a nonpartisan now, has blamed the delay in this country on the Eisenhower administration which, he said, broke up the missile program he started.

Hunter Is Heart Victim in Area Of Haines Falls

CATSKILL (AP) — A Long Island hunter was found dead in Catskill woods yesterday, apparently of a heart attack.

A carcass of an eight-point buck was lying nearby.

The body of Alfred M. Treutlein, about 50, of Maspeth, Queens, was found near the hamlet of Haines Falls by bloodhounds brought in by State Police.

Treutlein had been missing since Thursday.

Upstate Justice Is Appointed to Appellate Court

ALBANY (AP) — Justice James Gibson of State Supreme Court will serve a five-year term on the Appellate Division, Third Department.

Gibson, of Hudson Falls, was designated to a full 5-year term yesterday by Gov. Harriman in place of Justice Howard A. Zeller of Oneida. Zeller requested that his designation be revoked for health reasons, the governor's office said.

Harriman also appointed Matthew J. Jasen, a Buffalo attorney, to the State Supreme Court, Eighth District. He fills a vacancy caused by the retirement Nov. 15 of Justice Leo J. Hagerty.

Jasen, 41, will be one of the youngest judges in the history of the Eighth District, which includes eight western New York counties. Jasen, a Democrat, lost the Nov. 5 election for a Supreme Court post. His term runs to Dec. 31, 1958. The annual salary is $21,000.

Gibson's designation means a $2,000 increase in his annual salary. The basic salary of Supreme Court justices in the department is $26,000.

The Third Department embraces 24 counties in the northeastern, central and Southern Tier sections of the state.

Zeller will revert to his regular Supreme Court assignment.

Rigby Discusses County College

A proposed community college for Ulster County would cost each taxpayer of the county approximately 33 cents more per $100 of taxation than it will probably cost within a few years to finance students at neighboring community colleges, Harry Rigby Jr., of Kingston, told a meeting of the Saugerties P-TA on Wednesday evening.

Rigby said that by 1970 it is expected that county will be paying $50,000 per year for local students to attend neighboring community colleges while the county's share of the cost to support its own college would be approximately $60,000.

The shortage of room for students to attend college will become acute within the next few years, he said. It is expected that there will be a 70 per cent increase in the number of students in New York State who will apply for admission to colleges with only a 41 per cent increase in present facilities by then.

At present there are about 850 high school graduates per year in Ulster County whereas by 1970 the number is expected to be about 1,200.

It is important that a high percentage of the young people of this area should attend college for their own benefit and to help raise the standard of living of all Rigby said, and an industrial renaissance is occurring within the valley and new industry requires technical training.

State Pays Half

When a community college is established the state and the community each pays half of the capital cost, Rigby explained. The cost of operation is met one third by the state, one third by the community, and one third by tuition of students. The average tuition charge at present is $200 per year, he said.

Prior to Mr. Rigby's address, scholarships were discussed by three members of the Saugerties Central Schools faculty. Dr. Grant D. Morse, superintendent, stressed the need for more scholars. He said that in order to develop more scholars, society should give greater recognition to scholars. He also stressed the fact that in order to become a scholar, a person must want to be one, he must read widely, associate with other scholars and gain satisfaction from research and other intellectual pursuits. The attitude of the family is very important in developing scholarship in young people, he stated.

The State Regents Scholarships were described by Miss N. Leona Hogan, senior class advisor. She gave several examples of questions on the scholarship examinations so that parents would know what to expect and how to guide their children.

Miss A. Frances Larned, guidance director, spoke briefly about the multitude of scholarships now available to young people and distributed a booklet concerning scholarships which she had prepared.

During the business meeting the association voted to discontinue the milk program which it had supported for several years. The diminishing need for mid-morning milk because of improved lunch facilities in the schools, and the clerical difficulties involved handling the program prompted the decision.

Plans were made for a benefit movie later in the year with Miss N. Leona Hogan as chairman. The movie would be for the benefit of the P-TA scholarship fund.

Turnau Players Enrich Musical Life of Country

The Turnau Opera Players, each member going his own individual way during the winter months, are perhaps just as busy as they are in the summer at Woodstock. Each one separately is an accomplished young artist with a promising career, and, although the summer opera company is the favorite activity of every one of the artists, the winter's activities show the advancement they are all making and the recognition they are obtaining in the broader musical life of the country or, in some cases, on the international musical scene.

Jackson Wiley, the past summer's musical director, is now conductor of the symphony orchestra of Springfield, O., and teaches in his spare time at the school of music there. Barbara Owens, stage director, is now assistant stage director of the New York City Center Opera Company, which is enjoying one of the most successful seasons of its career. Elaine Summers, choreographer, besides running a very busy dance school, is giving a lecture-recital at the 23rd Street branch of the New York Public Library, in which she will discuss and demonstrate the use and control of the body in modern dance movements. Michael Charry, former musical director of the Players, is now assistant conductor of the touring Jose Limon ballet group. He has also received excellent notices for his conducting in France and Germany.

Sally Turnau, one of the best of all, is Director of Promotion and Publicity of the Hunter College Opera Association, manager of the Hunter College Opera Workshop, and Secretary of the Eastern Intercollegiate Opera Association. Charles Wadsworth, assistant musical director, has just received a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation for an extended period of study in Europe. He is also becoming a prominent accompanist in New York, as shown by the reviews he received for the recent recital of a Naumber prize winner in Town Hall, which he accompanied.

Jean Deis, former tenor with the Players, has just won the Cincinnati award which is given to a select few of the most promising operatic singers of the country as sponsorship for a sojourn in Italy. He will appear in several performances of different Italian opera houses as a result of his award. Harold Johnson, best known in Woodstock for his charming interpretation of the Prince in "Cinderella," as well as his excellent tenor in "Cosi Fan Tutte," is now making a tour of the world as soloist with the Jubilee Singers. He will remain with this group also for their appearance at the Brussels World's Fair next Spring.

Jeffrey Wolfe, formerly with the Players, is now appearing at the Chicago Lyric Theatre. Jan Ruetz, the lovely Cinderella of last summer's production, is currently singing with the NBC Television Opera. Carolyn Christian, who may best be remembered as the exotic lady of "L'Heure Espagnole," has also recently signed with the NBC Television Opera. Besides that, she will be seen as the leading lady of the first New York performance of Benjamin Britten's "The Turn of the Screw" and as one of the leads in Jerome Hines' new "Life of Christ" on the Johnson Bloch television show. William Nahr, the dramatic lead of last summer's "Jacob and the Indians," will soon complete a tour of the country he is making with the NBC Television Opera Company.

Says U. S. Can't Afford Luxury Of Democrats

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Meade Alcorn, Republican national chairman, said last night that Democratic control of Congress had become a luxury the nation could not afford.

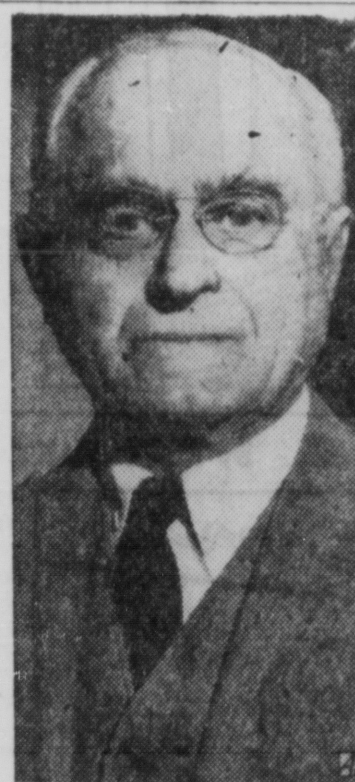

In a speech to Pennsylvania Republican women, he asserted that Democrats lacked responsibility, direction and agreement among themselves.

"As a nation, in these perilous times, we cannot afford the luxury of a Congress controlled by a hopelessly divided Democrat Party—a Democrat Party without direction," he told the State Council of GOP Women.

Check Mountain Atomic Explosion

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Scientists are still checking into vast possibilities from an underground atomic blast that lifted a Nevada mountain half a foot. Atomic Energy Commissioner W. F. Libby said yesterday.

"The whole mountain jumped six inches," he said in describing the recent test. "None of the radio activity, nor the heat, escaped." Operations have been started to tap a mass of molten rock trapped 800 feet underground by the explosion, Dr. Libby told newsmen. He was here to address a conference of 500 scientists.

Newspaperman, 96, Works on Birthday

ALLEN TOWN, Pa. (AP) — Britain Garrett Roth, perhaps the world's oldest working newspaperman, turned 96 yesterday and he had a ball—after quitting time.

Brit finished his dayside stint as usual, then was ready for the Call-Chronicle office birthday party, which Brit relished indeed. The staff gave him a cardboard panel covered with 96 new one dollar bills. Even better, he said, was the gift of a kiss from each of 96 women employees.

"If that doesn't keep me on the job," Brit said, "nothing will. This sure beats the slippers-and-fire-side routine."

Brit Roth writes a column called "Ye Olde Timer," filled with recollections of people, places and lively happenings. He's up to current events, too, and recently visited a Nike base to get information for one of his pieces.

Labor Proposes Benefit Boosts As Aims in '58

NEW YORK (AP) — An official of the New York State Federation of Labor says organized labor's major aim for 1958 will be raising of state workmen's compensation, unemployment insurance and disability benefits.

Harold C. Hanover, secretary-treasurer of the state federation, proposed the benefit boosts yesterday in a statement read before the Joint Legislative Committee on Industrial and Labor conditions.

The statement urged raising workmen's compensation from the present maximum of $36 a week to at least $40; boosting unemployment benefits from the current $45 weekly to at least $55; and upping compensation and insurance minimums from the present $10 to $15 to at least $20.

Assemblyman John L. Ostrander, Saratoga Republican chairman of the joint committee, adjourned the three-day hearing without setting a resumption date.

Mrs. Lois Clarke of Pittsburg, Pa., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Detweiler.

The annual Christmas party of the fire auxiliary will be held at the Mt. Marion Inn on the evening of Dec. 12.

Fred Brammer has returned home from Kingston Hospital. The fire company was called out early Sunday morning to assist at the PVI fire.

The church will join the union Thanksgiving service at Flatbush on Thanksgiving eve. Fred Brammer of the Mt. Marion Church will conduct the joint choir.

Mr. and Mrs. James O'Hara are building a new home at Hurley.

115-Pound Stone

Crashes Through Taxi

NEW YORK (AP) — A 115-pound stone slipped from a crane sling over Fifth Avenue yesterday and crashed through the roof of a moving taxicab 125 feet below.

The driver, Frank Starpolice, 52, of Queens, kept control of the cab and stopped it within a few yards. He was taken to a hospital suffering shock. Three passengers in the cab were unhurt. The stone struck the front seat next to the driver.

The stone was being hoisted to the top of the 24-story Canada House at 54th St.

Matter of FACT

The first fire insurance companies were formed after the great London fire of 1666. These companies maintained their own fire-fighting organization. Policy holders were identified by metal emblems, called fire markers, attached to the outside of their property. If a burning building had no fire marker, the firemen just stood by and watched it burn. The first such company in the United States, the Philadelphia Contributorship, was founded by Benjamin Franklin in 1752.

Gives Up $67,000

Business — For Love

WAKEFIELD, England (AP) — Malcolm Fisher, 20, gave up a share in a $67,000 business yesterday—all for love.

A magistrates' court here overruled objections from his father and granted him permission to marry Anne Robinson, a pretty 20-year-old bank clerk.

Malcolm's father, a prosperous garage proprietor, had told the youth he is too young and inexperienced to marry. "You can either have the girl or the business," the father said.

Young Fisher chose the girl. He is working as a truck driver at $36.40 a week.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON
RUSSIANS CAN'T EAT SPUTNIKS

Every worker and peasant in Russia is, in practical effect, a soldier without uniform. Russia is a police-state and whatever the Kremlin commands to be done must be undertaken. All resources of men and materials can be mobilized in a single task.

Hence, with a crash program, the Kremlin can sometimes obtain spectacular results. But Russia pays for her industrial and military show pieces with poor food, housing and clothing.

It is worth while to look at Russia on a map of the world. As a country, Russia is cold and dry. The frozen Arctic Ocean, the Scandinavian highlands and the Carpathian, Caucasus and Himalaya mountain ranges screen off most of the moisture-laden winds from the ocean.

Then note how far north Russia and Siberia are. The latitude of Moscow is that of Hudson Bay, and Leningrad (formerly St. Petersburg) is as far north as Juneau, Alaska.

Russia has only one seaport that is ice-free all the year. Even Odessa, on the Black Sea, is as far north as Ottawa, Canada.

Little of her vast area is favorable to crops and cattle ranges. Russia has fewer cows, hogs and sheep than under the Czar—and 50,000,000 more people to feed. The real income of her people is no better than 40 years ago.

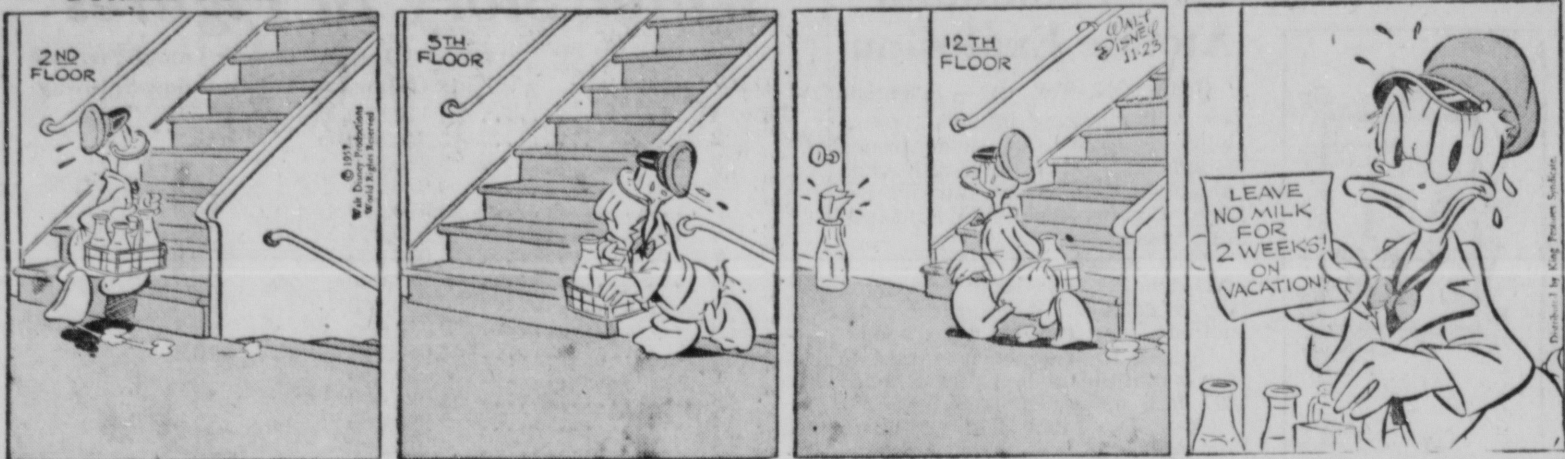

The Communist worker's paradise—long promised—is in default. Neighbor, the people can't eat Sputniks!

Gribbins Hits 22, McCrosson 16 In Losing Cause

It's doubtful if Coach Ed Witko of Onteora Central got too much sleep last night and for two very good reasons.

No. 1, his Indians dropped a heartbreaking 50-48 verdict to visiting Cairo in their basketball opener and secondly, the likeable mentor had to get up in the wee hours to go deer hunting.

Onteora put on a garrison finish in an attempt to win the inaugural before the home folks but it just wasn't enough. The Indians blew a chance to knot the score in the final minute by some sloppy passing.

The real story of their setback was the inability to hit from the foul line. The Boiceville crew outshot the invaders, 21-18, from the field but converted only 6 of 25 tries from the charity stripe for a poor 24 per cent. Cairo dunked in 14 for 19 for a scintillating 73 per cent.

Pair Set Pace

Artie Gribbins and Tom McCrosson combined for all but 10 of Onteora's point output. Gribbins, the lone holdover regular, whipped in 22, although burdened with four fouls through the last period. McCrosson contributed 16.

Gribbins scored eight of his points in the first session as Onteora headed to a 15-13 lead. He connected for a trio of field goals in the second period but some fancy shooting by reserve Heissenburg, who canned 8 points, enabled Cairo to leave the struggle at halftime tied at 27-27.

Hamilton paced the visitors to a slim 39-37 advantage at the three-quarter mark on a brace of baskets, and a pair of free throws. Gribbins again kept the Indians in the running with two buckets and a like number of foul tosses.

Early in the fourth period, Gribbins incurred his fourth foul and was taken out. McCrosson got hot and went on a 7-point tear to keep things close. Meanwhile, Cairo, which was outshot 5 to 2 from the field in the chapter, stayed in front by hitting 7 of 11 from the free throw line.

The visitors featured a balanced scoring attack. Gene detto and Hamilton each unloaded 12 to share high point honors. Cairo's Jayvees set the pattern for the evening by taking the opener, 58-42, from Coach Tom Wheeler's Juniors. Dick Bartsch tallied 10, Len Muhlich 9 and Joe DiGiovanni 8 for the Little Indians. Benedetto led everyone with 13 for Cairo.

Idle Celts Still Gain

By The Associated Press
Even when they're idle, Boston's Celtics gain ground in the National Basketball Assn.

The classy Celts had a seven-game edge in the Eastern Division today after Syracuse missed a chance to close ground by losing 102-98 to Cincinnati last night in the only game scheduled. The defeat dropped the Nationals into a three-way tie for second place with Philadelphia and New York.

Cincinnati, winning six of 11, now is within a half game of St. Louis, the Western Division pacesetter.

Canadians Whip Russian Sextet

TORONTO (AP)—The Whitby Dunlops kicked the experts in the teeth last night by walloping Russia's highly touted hockey team 7-2 before 14,327 on-the-spot Canadian hockey fans and thousands of other who watched the slaughter on television.

But don't let the score fool you. The Russians can't be that bad. Six members of the pass-happy all-star Moscow team were on the ice at Cortina, Italy, when the Soviet Union toppled Canada from its Olympic perch with a 2-0 shut-out over Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen in 1956. Canadian observers at the games said at a time that a couple of players would have an excellent chance of making a National Hockey League team.

But the Dunlops, who likely will meet the Russians in the Feb. 28-March 9 world amateur championships at Oslo, weren't impressed as the Soviet players opened their seven-game tour of Ontario and Quebec at Maple Leaf Gardens. They spotted them a 2-0 lead in the first two minutes and then proceeded to whump them for the next 58.

Clarkstown Wins
POTSDAM (AP)—Clarkson opened its hockey season last night with a 3-1 trouncing of Laval of Quebec City.

Grant Childerhose snapped in one goal for the victors and assisted on two others.

400 Points Graduated

Tannenbaum-Less Ellenville Has Court Work Cut Out

More than 400 points graduated when All-DUSO Mike Tannenbaum received his diploma at Ellenville and coach Chuck Walsh can't be blamed a bit if he's heard singing the blues.

Tannenbaum is about 400 miles away, a freshman at the University of Buffalo, and, of course, can't be of any help. The bespectacled sharpshooter took with him every school scoring record and is one of the few players in DUSO history to tally more than 400 points in one season.

But this isn't all. Six of Tannenbaum's playmates are also gone and scattered in different institutions of higher learning. Peter Anderson is at RPI; Bob Gorman at Orange County Community College in Middletown; Howie Randall at West Point; Tom Brown at East Stroudsburg, Pa.; Al Lonstein at the University of Miami and Frank Marchese at Villanova. Tannenbaum, Gorman, Anderson and Brown are upholding the old school colors by winning berths on the frosh squads.

Walsh Not Conceding

Things may look dark for the Blue Devils but Walsh isn't conceding a thing. He has some fine talent back and has inherited a raft of former Jayvees.

Heading the experienced hands is Jim Reed, a willowy 6-3 shot-maker who was a regular on last year's 11-7 squad. A top-flight baseball pitcher, Reed may pick up some of the slack left by the departure of Tannenbaum. His teammates have already shown great confidence in him by electing him captain.

After Reed comes Ben Davis, Charlie Slutsky, Mike Newell, and Charlie Kushner. All except Kushner are returning squadmen. Also figuring big in the Devils' plans are Marc Cramer, Bobby Wood and Marty Kososky. Reed, Davis and Kushner have won starting jobs, according to latest reports, while the others are fighting for the open spots.

18-Game Slate

Ellenville plays 18 games including 16 in the DUSO. The two non-league games are against Otisville and New Paltz. The Otisville encounter opens the season Dec. 3 at which time the Devils' new school gym will be dedicated.

Chess Tournament

Dates Set by Knights

Kings Knight Chess Club has announced a new series of Sunday and Wednesday tournaments which are open to all chess players in the area. The Sunday sessions begin at 2 p. m., starting Nov. 24 and play starts at 8 p. m. on Wednesday at the club headquarters, 265 Wall Street. No equipment is necessary.

Sixteen players have been selected for the championship tournament that starts Sunday.

Kingston Cagers Drill Monday at MJM School

Kingston's representative in the Hudson Valley Basketball League will hold its second practice Monday at 7 p. m. at MJM school. All players are urged to be present.

The league will hold a meeting Sunday (tomorrow) at 2 p. m. at the Elks Lodge.

Kingston High will never have to apologize for the academic calibre of its athletes when a Moose Shaub can bat 95 on the honor roll and be elected president of the Senior class.

It can point with illimitable pride to the scholastic accomplishments of Hobie Armstrong, a 90-average young man with flying feet and uncanny intuition that have made him one of the greatest running backs in Maroon history. Hobie is president of the Junior class.

Rusty Peterson, the cross country marvel, is vice-president of the Junior class and Jerry McDonough, the best quarterback in the DUSO football conference, is secretary of the Junior class. There are others, but these tower above the rest. Kingston High can be proud of its current day athletes, a delightful switch from the popular misconception that all all-winning scholastic or collegiate athletic squads are composed of goons whose academic mobility is highly suspect.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

Caroline Draper, who learned the trade at Belleaire Ski Center where her illustrious dad, Arthur G. Draper, was general manager before switching to Whiteface, has been given a Class A rating in the Downhill Slalom in the annual ratings of the United States Eastern Amateur Ski Association. . . . Jack Schoenberger, the New York-New Jersey League batting champion and Mickey Burkoski of Newburgh and Dick Wilbur (Otisville) are shoeing for berths on Coach Ken Norton's Manhattan basketball varsity. Burkoski figures to be on the starting five. . . . The National Golf Foundation in its annual report proves rather conclusively that Americans are still going crazy about the Royal and Ancient. The Foundation reports 71 million 18-hole rounds played in 1957, up from the 67 1/2 million last year. Total equipment sales were up 11 per cent, with ball sales up seven per cent and club sales up three. Most of the people wild about golf are women and kids. Women's play was up 15 per cent above 1956 and junior play 20. No fewer than 160 new courses opened at a cost of $35,000,000. And you can look for more of the same in years to come. The Foundation reports that 289 more courses are now being constructed and 758 more are planned.

Of Men and Mice:

The Army basketball schedule maker obviously feels the Cadets will work themselves to a fine edge by season's end. The last three opponents are Manhattan, Fordham and the Navy. . . . Clair Bee, athletic director at New York Military Academy, will address the annual Section 9 Council dinner at Hotel Newburgh on Dec. 4. . . . Wiggle de Lisle of Woodstock carded 40-35, with an eagle-3, in a recent St. Petersburg golf tournament. . . . The three fabulous Schopinsky's—Thomas, Gerald and Richard—will do the brother act in the 27th annual YMCA Thanksgiving Day road race at Poughkeepsie. Tom is a senior at Cobleskill Agricultural and Technical Institute and placed third as the Aggies won the state junior college cross country title. Cobleskill looks like a natural choice for a runner like Kingston High's Rusty Peterson. . . . Coach Ken Brown of Kingston High proposes a DUSO wrestling league and we second the motion. It would fill a void in a school's winter sports activities and give the students something to cheer about when the basketball squad is on the road. . . . Ever wonder what happened to Bill Nimmo of Ancramdale (Columbia County), the former Bill The Bartender on the Wednesday night fights? He's now appearing on a Saturday night Tver, "Keep It In The Family."

The Boxing Beat:

The professional boxing promotion in Newburgh Wednesday night never got off its feet. It had to buck the Wednesday night Tver, the more attractive because Kid Gavilan was displaying his eye-catching wares. The card was hurriedly thrown together, suffered from lack of good promotion and was not properly publicized in the mid-Hudson area, particularly in Poughkeepsie. Besides that, the Avalon Center is a big, barren roller skating rink, drafty and with poor lighting for boxing or wrestling. The boxing game is desperately in need of small, live clubs but the Newburgh setup isn't the answer. The card itself, arranged through the Bobby Gleason syndicate in New York, was excellent with not a sour bout among the six. George Gainsford was a sight for old, tired eyes. You couldn't help recall the halcyon days of the manly art of modified murder in Kingston when he handled Sugar Ray Robinson and a host of other crack "mateurs" at the municipal auditorium. Boxing can be promoted profitably in some parts of the country. But the old theory of promoting a boxing card by just hanging out a few posters and waiting for the crowds to pour in vanished with the first TV power tube.

Peake Aboard Four Winners

NEW YORK (AP)—It'll be a long time before Billy Peake forgets Friday, Nov. 22.

The 23-year-old apprentice jockey from Birdseye, Ind., rode four winners at Jamaica yesterday for the outstanding performance of his brief saddle career.

Among his winners was Jocko's Walk, who captured the feature by 12 lengths at odds of $5.80 for $2. Peake's other victorious mounts were Some Tune ($10.30), Lady Bertha ($35.40) and Wisemar ($9.60). His other mount, Morning Watch, finished in a dead heat for third.
